

Guiding Principles
for directing and leveraging KCD resources include:

Strive to fund projects and programs across a geographically diverse landscape

Projects are encouraged to address multiple natural resource priorities

Projects should seek to align with regional policy and research and planning processes

Projects are encouraged to address economic as well as environmental challenges

Projects are encouraged to address equity and social justice directly and indirectly

Projects should coordinate with existing local jurisdiction conservation programs and initiatives

